Discretionary spending is projected to remain below its historical average

NOTE: Discretionary spending as a share of total spending declines in data for 2020 and 2021, which are affected by programs to address the pandemic. By contrast, discretionary spending accounted for 30 percent of total outlays in 2019 and is projected to return to that level in 2022.