8 million people — roughly the population of Massachusetts — have student debt greater than $50,000