The fiscal state of play

U.S. debt is on an unsustainable path
President Trump entered office with the highest debt-to-GDP ratio of any president since Truman.

What will the President & Congress do to address the national debt?
#FiscalStateofPlay

Learn more at PGPF.org

As the President and Congress look to tackle a range of policy areas, here’s a handy guide to the fiscal state of play.

In just over a decade, interest costs will become the 3rd largest category of the federal budget, following just social security and Medicare.

A whopping 80% of voters agree the national debt should be a top priority, including 75% of Democrats & 86% of Republicans. An additional 74% of voters say the President and Congress should spend more time addressing the issue.

The national debt is a priority for Americans across party lines.

The fiscal state of play

As the President and Congress look to tackle a range of policy areas, here’s a handy guide to the fiscal state of play.

In just over a decade, interest costs will become the 3rd largest category of the federal budget, following just social security and Medicare.

A whopping 80% of voters agree the national debt should be a top priority, including 75% of Democrats & 86% of Republicans. An additional 74% of voters say the President and Congress should spend more time addressing the issue.

The national debt is a priority for Americans across party lines.

What will the President & Congress do to address the national debt?
#FiscalStateofPlay

Learn more at PGPF.org